bioeko, Italian nature

What's behind our organic produce? The same that's inside it.

We've been making organic breadsticks since 1995, when the very idea of organic was only just emerging. However, we followed our intuition and this led us to explore and achieve solutions for the well-being of the planet and its inhabitants.

Love for Nature

From the beginning we chose to produce organic breadsticks and snacks because we care about the well-being of the planet and the people who live on it. Choosing organic products enhances lives. Choosing bioeko means embracing a love for nature that results in healthy, tasty products made from raw materials that respect the environment.

Short, simple, healthy recipes

In our breadsticks and snacks you will find only strictly organic and carefully selected ingredients, purchased from accredited suppliers with whom we have worked for many years. We select whole wheat, use extra virgin olive oil and high-quality raw materials in all our products.

The list is short

From the very beginning our list of ingredients has always been kept to the absolute essentials: it has, and always will be, a short list because we believe in simplicity, we love authenticity and we prefer our products to be 100% natural. These ingredients can be counted on the fingers of one hand: flour, extra virgin olive oil, seeds, spices and herbs.

Private Label

Many of the preparations available to our private label customers are the result of ongoing research into organic ingredients and short recipes. We continue to explore and test new recipe ideas in order to achieve that perfect balance between flavour and well-being.
